Hybrid HTML / PHP Page - Static for SEO, Dynamic when hit

- Unlike a PHP or ASP page which sits in a database until the page is called to display, we create a hybrid page. It is both a HTML static page and dynamic page; it is always up and it acts like a dynamic page after clicking on it.
- Every page has a static page that can be submitted to the search engines with meta tags, keywords, word clouds, etc.
- This is the same technology as Amazon.com, the largest e-commerce site in the world.

Each vendor can sell different products and use many different shipping methods.

If a manufacturer has multiple locations and each location has a different set of products, or some products are the same among all the branches and some are unique:

- Customer chooses a product sold at 4 different locations—our program will determine which manufacturing facility has the product at the least amount of freight.
- Customer buys 3 products and all come from different manufacturing locations – the customer will get 3 invoices with freight based on 3 different locations.

Each major customer can have his own freight company.

- Choice of vendor-supplied freight or buyer arranges his own freight.
- If the dimensional weight of a group of products is over 150, an automatic lookup is enabled that will give both a parcel price and an LTL price.
